

Proliance and Plan Express Integration Solution
Delivery and Data Logistics for Construction Document Distribution

About Meridian Systems

Meridian Systems® provides enterprise infrastructure lifecycle management (ILM) technology solutions to improve top-line revenue and reduce capital construction costs.

Meridian Proliance®

Proliance uniquely combines project and portfolio management functionality, facilities management, business process management and business analytics to offer complete ILM in one, comprehensive solution. The innovative technology platform of Proliance utilizes Web Services and XML schemas to enable facility and infrastructure-related businesses to better manage the thousands of details inherent in building and operations projects, while providing senior executives a summary status of overall programs across the entire enterprise.

About Plan Express

Specializing in the logistics of construction document delivery, Plan Express can fill the order in a variety of ways—by overnight courier, a local print shop partner, or even select FedEx Kinko's locations. Through specialization and multiple locations across the country at key distribution cities Plan Express is able to accept orders until 9PM EST for overnight deliveries, making this an unprecedented service offering in the construction marketplace.

Independent Software Vendor Partnerships

Independent Software Vendors (ISV) offer integrations and solutions that add value to Meridian Systems' multiple-product solution portfolio. These vendors develop solutions interconnected with the project management, portfolio management, facilities management and business process management capabilities of Meridian's solutions and tailored to the business needs of facility and infrastructure-related organizations.

The Proliance and Plan Express Integration

Meridian and Plan Express have partnered to extend the functionality of Proliance to seamless web-based ordering of construction documents. The technology offered by Plan Express provides accurate and automated access to documents synchronized with the data in Proliance. Document details are managed in Proliance. The documents are then updated instantly and automatically on the Plan Express Distribution site. Revisions, updates or addenda modified within Proliance are synchronized instantaneously. GC's and Subs find the Distribution site easy-to-use for ordering plans and choosing shipping options
